Activities To Do Around Australia

Because it is a wide open continent, people are never short of things to do in Australia. The continent is one country and the unique experience of traveling from side of a continent to another without finding a border guard is an attractive prospect for some. Others will find much to do without travelling at all. Don't be left out because you have neglected to get a passport renewal for your damaged passport.

Frequent Visitors

An individual's own agenda will determine what he or she does. The country is home to many people with ancestral roots in other parts of the world. Chinese, English and South African grandparents visiting their relatives who have settled in Australia will often be content with nothing more than enjoying the company of loved ones.

Australia In Fiction

The Victorian novelist, Charles Dickens is sometimes criticized for sending one of his most loved characters, the ever deeply in debt Mr. Micawber, to Australia as a colonist. However, the written history of the penal colony that became a thriving country does seem like the stuff of fiction. The written history of the land discovered by Captain Cook runs further back into the unwritten stories of the aboriginal people recorded in the rocks, sands and customs of the vast continent.

Sidney Opera

In some ways the Sidney Opera House with its iconic concrete shells is a riposte to people who have in the past dismissed the country and its people as 'convicts'. Of course, many of the people transported to Australia were worthy people, and the 'House' symbolizes in its living stream of events the cultural richness of a society that respects and generates artistic excellence. The Opera House symbolizes the strength of a uniquely indigenous culture. There is so much to see but a damaged passport can cause travel problems so be sure to get your passport renewal if it is necessary.

Great Barrier Reef

Any country that is surrounded by sea will have a wonderful diversity of beaches, each with its own character and particular charms. The Great Barrier Reef, another World Heritage site, lies off the coast of Queensland, stretching for thousands of kilometers and visible from outer space. Although parts are carefully protected there are many aquatic activities possible in different parts of the Reef.

Flora And Fauna

The fauna of this country has evolved in strange and unique ways so that strange creatures are found here and nowhere else. It is not only kangaroos that can be found in their natural habitats but many other creatures such as spiders, bats and moths. It is only the crocodiles that seem to have a common ancestry with the African species. Otherwise, the fauna is uniquely and distinctively antipodean

A Different Vacation

The benign climate encourages people to get out into open air and participate in games rather than watch others play on television. English games such as cricket and rugby are played well, and the country has even gone to the extent of introducing its unique version of rugby called 'Australian Rules'. The Australian Open is a world-renowned event on the international tennis tour and the standard of the national cricket and rugby squads is consistently high, supported by healthy provincial and club infrastructures.

Things to do in Australia extend beyond sport, recreation and tourism. The land attracts immigrants from many corners of the world. People seeking a stable, democratic and prosperous country in which to live might go there to reconnect with a view to applying for residence. They are welcomed if they can show that they can contribute to the good of the society. There are so many things to see but you must have a passports renewals.
