Auckland, New Zealand, is called the city of sails. This beautiful city is famous for its beaches, excellent food, and countless opportunities to explore. If you are looking for a city vacation surrounded by the exotic beauty of New Zealand, look into traveling to Auckland. Just remember to get a passport first. Services like expedited stolen passports can be applied for online.

You Will Need A Passport

Having your passport ready is an important part of traveling. Without it, you will not even be let on the plane. There are a lot of things to check for when you are getting ready to travel. Make sure your passport is current and valid, make sure it isn't damaged, and make sure you have enough blank passport pages. Without these things, you could be denied from traveling. If you are in need of any passport service check out online passport services, where you can apply for everything online and receive it as quickly as you need.

Sky Tower

One very popular landmark - and a symbol for the city itself - is the thousand-foot-tall Sky Tower. As you might imagine, it's the best spot for some incredible views of the city. It's actually the tallest structure in the Southern Hemisphere. Be sure to stay for a meal in the trendy revolving restaurant at the top of Sky Tower. Another great place for views in a more natural sort of setting is Mt. Eden. In the not-to-distant past, it was a highly active volcano. Now it's dormant, providing visitors with beautiful views in an equally beautiful setting.

Auckland War Memorial Museum

The Auckland War Memorial Museum is regarded as one of the best and most important museums in New Zealand. It not only covers the wars and those who lost their lives in these wars, but it also presents a general overview of the life and culture of the people of New Zealand. Combining military history, natural history, and cultural heritage, it's a great way to become acquainted with life in this part of the world. Another popular museum is the New Zealand Maritime Museum, which explores New Zealand's history of ocean exploration, travel, and trade from its earliest inhabitants to modern-day times.

Rangitoto Island

Auckland is a vastly beautiful place, with symbols of the Earth's strength in many forms, from the mighty volcanoes to the deep blue sea. Rangitoto Island is a place where you can experience a little bit of both. The island features a highly visible and impressive-looking volcano. Formed from violent eruptions that happened no more than 600-700 years ago, the island now features walking trails, swimming, fishing, and tranquil natural surroundings.

Auckland Zoo

The Auckland Zoo is very popular. It's a favorite among locals, and it's also one of the most forward-thinking and well-maintained zoos on Earth. You can encounter more than 700 different types of animals in the real-looking habitats, meaning you should allot plenty of time to explore.

There are many things that make Auckland a popular vacation spot: the beaches, the big city, the culture, the history. No matter what you plan, you'll be sure to walk away with so many memories.
