Breathtaking Landscapes And Captivating Locals In New Zealand

You definitely won't be experiencing your regular type of vacation in New Zealand. World famous for its one of a kind plants, animals, and landscapes, New Zealand is a travel destination that you won't soon forget. Traveling there has even become more affordable. The value of the United States Dollar is currently higher than that of New Zealand, allowing you to stretch your travel budget and experience whatever you and your family want to. Once you're through packing your luggage, getting your us passport, and reserving a seat on New Zealand's exclusive airline, you are set for an unforgettable vacation. Whether you want to soak up the sun on the glistening beaches or swooping down slopes of snow, New Zealand promises to make your vacation unforgettable.

New Zealand is comprised of two islands: the North Island and the South Island. With so many of the world's landscapes crammed into two islands, you never have to go far for a change of scenery. New Zealand's ecological scene is unlike that of any other place on Earth, offering your family a truly unique opportunity for adventure. There are lists and lists of attractions in all parts of New Zealand, and the only trouble you'll have is picking only a few. Many of these attractions are free, allowing you and your family to visit some of the most awe-inspiring sites on Earth, all while staying in budget. Getting a passport and getting the family there will show you exactly how much there is to do.

Australia, New Zealand's closest neighbor, is a distance of 1250 miles away, allowing for a completely isolated and self-sufficient ecosystem in New Zealand. This isolation has fostered the evolution of some of the strangest looking plants and animals on Earth, many of which are only found on or around New Zealand. The little flightless kiwi, the living-fossil look of the tuatara, and the leaping Hector's dolphins all provide a glimpse into the rich ecological background of New Zealand. Although they are now extinct, two of the most impressive bird species to ever exist, the 9-foot-tall moa and the world's largest eagle, the Haast's eagle, show just how unique the life is on New Zealand. With many birds still around on the island to see, you and your family will get a view of some of the strangest, silliest, and friendliest birds in the world.

There is more to New Zealand than the rich flora and one of a kind fauna. Because New Zealand is on one of the most geologically active sites on the planet, it is home to some of the most awe-inspiring geological formations and activity anywhere. There are geothermal pools, active volcanoes and geysers, underwater volcanoes you can actually walk through, and gigantic glaciers available to see in New Zealand, giving you and your family a very rare glimpse into Earth's primordial past.

If you are someone looking for a great vacation while remaining in budget and still being able to suit everyone's wants, New Zealand is the perfect destination. Whether you want to completely immerse yourself in the natural side of New Zealand or experience the nightlife in the crowded cities, New Zealand can provide it. Now, getting a United States passport and packing up the family has never been more worth it. A very unique vacation experience awaits you on these even more unique islands.
