International travel is getting surprisingly stress free. Normally, when we think of travel, we immediately think of all the anxiety that goes into the preparation. However, in the recent years, this preparation has become increasingly easy. With online passport services, from getting a completely new passport to simply adding pages to your passport, getting the required paperwork has never been easier.

Spain is synonymous with great food. Barcelona is one of the food capitals of the world, and it graces the top of lists that promote the best dining locations on earth. So, if you like good food and great wine served in a one-of-a-kind atmosphere, Barcelona will not disappoint. Tapas are the crowning glory of Spain, as they are served all over, in both chic wine bars and comfy cafes. To go for tapas is a popular activity of native Spaniards, and you will not want to miss out on trying a few for yourself.

If you really want a taste of Spain's vibrant culture, a stroll down La Rambla in Barcelona will put you face to face with street performers, beautiful statues, tons of quaint boutiques, and delicious food stands. Two hours from the Costa del Sol is the Sierra Nevada Mountains. These mountains provide some of the best skiing found anywhere in the world, and the fact that it's such a short drive away only attests to the variety of scenery that Spain offers. With ski lessons available, you can learn to ski on the powdery snow, and when the sun goes down, you can party until the sun comes up.

The Running of the Bulls is also synonymous with Spain and is known world wide. While I wouldn't recommend it myself, if you are an extreme adventure seeker, you might want to plan your trip to Spain during this event which usually occurs in the summer along the streets of San Fermin. While anyone is welcomed to participate, you run at your own risk but if risk is what you seek, this may be the event for you.
