

Published based on Taipei - A Fast Paced City With Timeless Culture

Taipei - A Fast Paced City With Timeless Culture

Because of its governmental, cultural, and financial importance to Taiwan, Taipei is a very prominent city. What makes it so unique is the blending of the old and the new in a way that seems effortless. This means you can expect a very interesting vacation if you decide to travel to Taipei. With its stunning temples, impressive skyscrapers, and traditional historical influences, Taipei is an engaging place to take a vacation, but you'll need to get a passport first. Passports, as well as passport renewals for expired passports, are available online.

Americans Will Need A Passport

Remember that both adults and children, regardless of how young, will need a passport when traveling. Expedited child passports are available online. Taking care of all your passport business online is the quick and convenient way to get ready for a trip. A lot of the time, passports and various passport services can take a very long time to get processed, leaving some travelers having to delay or even cancel their vacation plans. If you go online, you can get expedited passport services, which can have your passport to you in the shortest amount of time possible.

Taipei 101

For the best views of the city, head to Taipei 101, the second tallest skyscraper in the world. With 101 floors and an observation deck at the 89th, you can be sure to get some of the best pictures and views of the city imaginable, both during the day and at night when the city is all lit up. This tower has the world's fastest elevator and its shape is meant to symbolize bamboo, an important symbol in Taiwanese culture. There's also lots of shopping to be done in the tower. There is a large mall at the base, a food store in the basement, and a book store on the fourth floor.

Longshan Temple

Taipei is packed full of temples, and there are many that are worth visiting. Longshan Temple, a beautiful Buddhist temple, is one of the most popular. The people of Taipei come to this temple to pray and reflect on every aspect of life. Be sure to save some time to explore the historic area around this temple as well. You can often find festivals and celebrations taking place at Longshan Temple, so do a little research and see if any are happening during your trip. If you are interested in more temples, Xiahai City God Temple is another popular one, which also has an interesting surrounding area if you are down to explore.

National Palace Museum

One very interesting spot is the National Palace Museum, a museum with a world-famous collection of Chinese art and priceless artifacts. Some of the pieces in the museum have faced impossible odds to survive history, and some are from as far back as the 10th century.

Yangmingshan National Park

Yangmingshan National Park is a good spot to explore some of the mountainous natural setting around Taipei. Here you'll encounter some stunning landscapes, as well as some postcard-worthy views of Taipei from the peaks of the mountains.

You will never have a shortage of things to do and see while you're exploring Taipei. However, even though you may be tempted to pack an itinerary with activities, save a little time to just get lost in the city. Remember that you'll also need a passport. The expedited child USA Passport and adult passports can be applied for online. In addition, if your passport is expired, United States online passport renewals are available as well.

You can also find this article published on Taipei - A Fast Paced City With Timeless Culture, and on the tag pages child passports, Longshan, tallest skyscraper in the world, time, time passports, vacation.