Tips On How To Add Passport Pages Quick

People who frequently travel to different countries are usually aware of how fast their pages can be filled up. This is more so the case for those who tend to travel several times within a year. Due to this, many wind up needing to add US passport pages quick but often aren't sure where to start.

Things To Consider

People usually have several different choices to choose from when it comes to processing this kind of documentation. However, it's always important to consider your options based on your circumstances, since things like pricing and time frames can be a determining factor. For example, certain options may take longer than others, while some methods may cost more.

Application

The right application needs to be completed and mailed to the appropriate address in order to receive new pages. This usually entails the DS-4085 form, which is specifically meant for this goal. However, individuals will also need to mail in their current passport and application fees. Due to this, it's usually recommended that individuals mail these items through mail services that they can track.

Forms

You can find a list of requirements necessary for new pages by mail by doing some research. A DS-4085 is used for fewer than four pages remaining in your passport. If you feel you'll need more pages, you may want to consider filling out a DS-82 form, which will provide you with a new book. Those who have to fill out their form in person, however, will need to fill in a DS-11 form instead.

Mail Time Frame

Individuals who have a month or more to wait will usually process their paperwork by mail. This process can usually take anywhere between 4 to 6 weeks, although this can sometimes vary.

Cost

Individuals can also choose to pay an extra fee on top of the regular application fee in order to have expedited services. This service will typically cost $60 and it generally takes 2 to 3 weeks for this type of processing. People can also choose to pay an additional fee to have their items sent by overnight delivery.

Online Agency Help

If you happen to be short on time and expediting your applications won't help, you may want to use an agency that specializes in speedy processing. These agencies will cost more, even on top of the initial fees, but they can cut the time frame enormously.

It's common for people to put things off until the last minute and travel plans can crop up at the last second as well. In situations like this, people who need to have their paperwork delivered within a 48 to 24-hour period will usually go through a company that specializes in this area. Although it will cost more, many people appreciate this method when they're short on time, since they can add U S passport pages quick, depending on the dates on the passport, it may be possible to apply for a U S passport renewal instead.
